Whiting went to Vergennes Tuesday morning, where he has several monuments to set in that vicinity and from there he goes to Bristol to superintend the setting of the Eastman monument which he sold some months ago, and which includes a life-size granite statue surmounting a nicely carved pedestal.

Just Received Another Cask MIDDLEBURY HISTORICAL PLATES

The souvenir plate of "Old Middlebury," is at once artistic and commemorative of its historical associations. The pictures shown are the Congregational Church, built 1806, Episcopal Church, built 1826, Addison House, built 1826, College Chapel, built 1836, The Bridge, built by Joseph Battell 1892, Library presented by Egbert Starr 1900, Science Hall, given by Ezra Warner 1901. These plates are ten inches in diameter and the decorations are in old blue. These plates are the product of the famous Wedgewood Potteries at Etruria, Staffordshire, England, which is of itself a guarantee of their artistic excellence. The price of these plates, one dollar each, is no criterion of their quality. They must be seen to be appreciated. Each plate is packed in a safety packing box, insuring its safe arrival, and will be sent either by mail or express, as ordered, upon receipt of the price. If ordered sent by mail remit 35 cents additional to cover postage. Send your order for this beautiful souvenir.
